Introduction

In the attempt to review the condition of the literary translation from Turkish into Macedonian language we can regretfully conclude that its number, compared with translations from other languages, is significantly smaller. According to the National and University Library "St. Kliment Ohridski" in Skopje, in the period from 1944 to 2010 there were published 126 literary titles of Turkish authors, written in Turkish language, translated into Macedonian, and printed in Cyrillic alphabet. Most of them are monographs, whereas a smaller amount represents texts as part of magazines or collections which include several authors from different linguistic origin.

Official statistics show that the publication of translated work from Turkish to Macedonian language has particularly increased in the last two decades, which corresponds with the period of independent Macedonia. Namely, since 2nd of August 1944, when the modern Macedonian state was established within Yugoslavia, until the collapse of the federation in the late 1980s, there is a pretty small number of literature translated from Turkish to Macedonian. In the period of 46 years, or more precisely from 1944 to 1989, only 35 Turkish literary titles were translated in the Macedonian language. As a comparison, in the past 20 years, from 1990 to 2010, the number of Macedonian translations from Turkish language is 91. Numbers show that only 27.8% of all existing translations from Turkish to Macedonian are published from 1944 to 1990, and the remaining 72.2% are placed in chronological frame from 1990 to 2010.

The small number of published titles from Turkish to Macedonian in the period from 1944 to 1990 is mainly due to the lack of suitably qualified and official translators. Namely, it was only in the academic year 1976/77 when the Department of Turkish Language and Literature at university level was founded in Macedonia. Moreover, from the academic year 1992/93, the Faculty of Philology in Skopje organized the first postgraduate studies in Turkish Language and Literature. As a result, a significant increase of the number of published titles from Turkish to Macedonian can be noticed during the 1990s.

This study is focused on the publishing activity in the field of translation from Turkish to Macedonian language in the Republic of Macedonia during the period from 1990 to 2010. The data are collected through the regular statistical surveys on published books, brochures and magazines contained in the regular annual reports of Statistical Department of The National and University Library “St.Clement Ohridski” – Skopje.

Publishing and translation market in Macedonia

As mentioned in the Introduction, compared with the total number of books published in the Republic of Macedonia, with regret, we can say that were a small number of Turkish titles translated into Macedonian language. Specifically, for a period that is a subject of our interest (1990 – 2010) in the Republic of Macedonia were issued total number of 35966 book titles, which 5160 are translations from the foreign languages. Only 91 of those are translations from Turkish language. Expressed as a percentage, those are 0.25% of the total number of titles, i.e. 1.76 % of the total number of translated titles from foreign languages into Macedonian from 1990 to 2010. Just for comparison, in the same period of time were published 2868 titles translated from English into Macedonian language, i.e. 596 titles from French to Macedonian.

About Balkan languages, 508 titles are translated from Serbian, 232 from Bulgarian, 250 from Croatian, 76 from Slovenian, 17 from Bosnian and 67 titles from Greek into Macedonian language.

Total number of translated titles from Balkan languages from 1990 to 2010

This condition of small number of translated titles from Turkish to Macedonian language is a result of limited number of translators who work in this specific field. The number of students, who have attended a diploma for this period, is a bit over 100. Most of them have turned to administration and journalism. Only small number of graduated students works as translators.

What it comes to the question regarding the valuation of their work, it depends on market conditions. Usually the price is formed according to the number of translated pages and varies depending on supply and demand in the market. Until recently, the average cost of a page translated from Turkish to Macedonian was 5 euro which was slightly higher than, say, for translations from English. But in recent months due to a surge of Turkish television series on the Macedonian TV market, sharply increased demand for interpreters of Turkish. That is the reason why the price of translation is rather increased. It is formed in direct contract between the translator and publisher.

Compared with average cost of a page translated from other languages, costs of translations from Turkish to Macedonian are to the middle of the scale of the cost. There are languages (e.g. Scandinavian) whose translations are more expensive, but there are languages (eg. English) whose translations are cheaper. For example, translation from Norwegian to Macedonian cost from 12 to 15 euros per page and translation from English to Macedonian cost from 3 to 4 euros.

According to the State Statistical Office in the Republic of Macedonia there are registered 121 publishing houses, companies and organizations dealing with publishing. Forty of them have published titles translated from Turkish to Macedonian. On the first place of number of published translations from Turkish to Macedonian language is publishing house “Detska Radost” from Skopje. In the period from 1990 to 2010 it has published 11 books, all of them literature for children. In addition, we give a review of publishing houses and organizations which had published Turkish literature translated into Macedonian. Also we give a review of the total number of published titles from Turkish into Macedonian by publishing houses and literature genres.

As we said previously translated titles from Turkish to Macedonian language can be divided into seven categories of literary genres. At first we will give general observations about translated titles which are classified in the category named as Holy texts and theology. There are 5 books with theological content of Islamic provenience. Two of them were published in 2002 and one each in 2004, 2007 and 2009. Author of four of them is Said Nursi, and Mustafa Ismaoglu occurs only as the author of one book from the category Holy texts and theology.

As to their content, these books treat the theological issues of the Islamic religion. So they are an integral part of literature for students of Islamic theological faculty. Often it is moral lessons of Islamic believers, as well as interpretations of parts of the Koran.

The publishing houses that share the greatest interest in the Turkish theological literature are: Milenium, Setre EO and Cultural – humanitarian organization “ENSAR”. The first two are situated in Gostivar and the third is humanitarian organization from Skopje.

Next literary category that includes 15 titles is Humanities and social sciences. It is divided into several subcategories: History, Sociology, Political sciences and Art History. The literary category of History includes 12 titles. They can be divided into two subcategories: 1) Historical monographs and 2) Collections of historical documents. The subcategory of Historical monographs includes five titles that treat historical topics related to the rule of the Ottoman Empire in the Balkans. This subcategory also includes the book whose author is Salih Asim named as "History of Skopje and its surroundings". It is dated to the XIX century and contains historical information about the city of Skopje and its surroundings. It seems that from all the books classified in the literary category of History the most interesting for Macedonian readers is the book of Oznal Erdogan named as "Macedonia is not a Greece” published in 1994.

The category of books with historical content includes seven Collections of historical documents. The documents it’s from the period of the Ottoman Empire in Macedonia.

Collections (5) contain detailed census lists related to the territory of Macedonia under the Ottoman rule. The category that contains translations of historical documents includes a “Collection of Firmans (decrees) and Kanuns” which editor is Macedonian historian Alexander Matkovski. All of Firmans and Kanuns contained in this Collection are from the Ottoman period. Also a great interest in the scientific community in Macedonia causes Macedonian translation of the travelogue of Evliya Celebija. He was a Turkish author from XVII century, who, among other things, wrote about his visit to Macedonia.

Besides books with historical content, category Humanities and social sciences include three more titles. There are a monograph about the origins and impact of Ataturkism in the Balkans and Europe, then a book of sociology that deals with issues of civil education, as well as the book of Beshir Ajvazoglu tittled as "Islamic aesthetics". The last one is relating to Islamic art of history and aesthetics. Translator of the book is renowned Macedonian philosopher Ferid Muhic and is an integral part of literature for students of the Philosophy Faculty in Skopje.

The institutions that share the greatest interest of publishing the Turkish literature of Humanities and social sciences are: Institute for National History and The State Archives of the Republic of Macedonia.

The next category entitled as Non - fictional literature include four titles. They are grouped into three subgroups: Theory of literature (1), Customs and folklore (2) and Memoirs (1). Three of the titles that are classified into this category are monographs, and one is a scientific article titled as "Poetry and the Otherness" published in the scientific annual publication called "Kulturen Zivot” which treats the questions of the theory of literature. The particular article refers to the influence of poetry on the destruction of nationalistic stereotypes. Therefore it is the most often cited work by Turkish author by Macedonian scientists dealing with that issue.

4 Macedonia was a part from Ottoman Empire in the period from 1395 to 1912.
5 Those detailed census lists in Ottoman Turkish language are named as Defters.
Category Fiction and essays include 26 titles divided into three subcategories: Novels, Short essays and stories, and Folk tales. The total number of novels translated from Turkish to Macedonian language from 1990 to 2010 is 14. In this category are included authors who treat various aspects of contemporary life. There are the romance novels, novels with social themes, novels that treat various relations in Turkish society, historical novels, science fiction and more. From all authors whose books are included in this category Orhan Pamuk is the most translated Turkish author with even 7 titles. He is widely read Turkish author in Macedonia.

In the category Fiction and essays special interest among the readers produce three books of folk tales. Two of them contain folk tales related to Nasredin Hodza, the mythical hero in the Turkish tradition and the epitome of folk sage. The editor of these two books is Sevim Pilickova which made the selection of stories. These books are especially popular among younger readers.

The next category which includes 13 titles is Children literature. It is divided into two subgroups: Poetry and Novels. The children poetry has a total of 6 titles and the number of novels for children is 7. In this context it should be noted that three of them are required reading in primary education in Macedonia. It are: Jalvac Ural’s poetry book titled as “The little seller of music” published in 1990, and two novels of the author Nexhati Zekirija titled as “The Children from our street” also published in 1990 and “Orhan” published in 2001.

The publishing house that shares the greatest interest in the Turkish literature for children is “Detska Radost” situated in Skopje.

The total number of poetry titles translated from Turkish to Macedonian language correspond to the category Fictions and essays. Namely, the total number of poetry titles translated from Turkish to Macedonian is the 26. Most of them are poetry books by single author, but there, also, three poetry collections with poems written by several authors. Most often it is a lyric poetry, and much less a narrative and epic poetry. What causes a particular interest of Turkish poetry translated into Macedonian language is publication in electronic format (CD - Rom) titled as “Lyric”. It is poetry of Attila Ilhan translated into Macedonian by Vejat Selman. The text is read by Maria Leontic.

Also we want to say that the manifestation called “The Struga poetry evenings” is the most deserving of the promotion of the Turkish poetry. The participation of Turkish poets on that event allows the Macedonian public to get acquainted with their poetic achievements. Their poems are part in the publications published under that occasion.

The publishing houses that share the greatest interest in the Turkish poetry are: “Tribina Makedonska” and “Ogledalo”.

At the end of this review we will mention two catalogues published by the City Museum of Skopje. It is a catalogues published on the occasion of independent art exhibitions of both renowned Turkish painters Ismet Doan and Jalcin Gokcebag. Catalogues contains images of the paintings from the aforementioned authors and a brief description of it’s.

Translations in other directions

Unfortunately, neither institution in Macedonia has a relevant data on the number of titles translated from Macedonian to Turkish. We assume that most of these titles it’s Macedonian poetry and a very small part of prose. Our assumption is based on the fact that many Macedonian poets participate in poetry events in Turkey.

Again with regret we can conclude that the National and University Library “St. Kliment Ohridski” from Skopje in it’s fund does not have any book translated from Macedonian to Turkish. This is due to poor cooperation and communication between Macedonian and Turkish libraries.
Translations of Turkish authors via other languages

About the question of translations of Turkish authors via other languages we can conclude that so far no such case. All translations of Turkish authors it’s from the language of original title – Turkish. This is due to the fact that, although in small numbers, in Macedonia has qualified translators from Turkish to Macedonian. It contributes to the existence, not only of high quality translations, but also a solid selection of titles from popular and widely read Turkish authors.

Mediators

The process of translation depends on many factors, but usually the financial part is the biggest and the most relevant factor. We think that the relevant state institutions (Ministry of Culture of the Republic of Macedonia, the Writers Association of Macedonia, etc.) are the main factor that can stimulate the translation of Turkish authors into Macedonian language. The lack of financial support is the main factor for small and insufficient number of translations, not only from Turkish to Macedonian, but also from other languages. In the years of economic and social transition, funds of the Ministry of Culture for publishing purposes were very small and insufficient. In recent years, especially in 2009 the Ministry of Culture started giving more financial support for publishing houses. Part of the money intended to be used for publishing translations of foreign authors. Thus, in 2009 eight titles were translated from Turkish to Macedonian.

Besides the financial problem another factor for the small number of translations from Turkish to Macedonian language is poor cooperation between the Macedonian and Turkish publishing houses. So far there is not a publishing house from Macedonia which has signed an agreement for cooperation with partners from Turkey.

What in past years has contributed to increase the number of titles translated from Turkish to Macedonian is excellent cooperation between the Macedonian and Turkish poets. The event Struga Poetry Evenings has great merit in the establishment of these relations between poets from both countries. So, should not be surprising that the majority of titles translated from Turkish to Macedonian language is poetry.

From what was said it can be concluded that publishing houses shows interest about Turkish authors, but it generally face with the financial problem. So, if we want the number of translated Turkish authors to be increased, the state institutions should give the financial help for the translation into Macedonian language.

If we agree that the publishing is basically a business then also comes the conclusion that the Macedonian and Turkish publishers must find the ways for a better communication and to establish mutual business relationships. Certainly the state institutions and NGOs can greatly assist in establishing contacts between publishing houses in Macedonia and Turkey. The same applies to cooperation between libraries in those two countries. Their cooperation must be intensified if we want to increase the number of translated titles by authors from both countries.

Reception

The reception of the titles translated into Macedonian language written by Turkish authors depends on several matters. Namely in Macedonia according to the census of 2002 as Turks were declared 77,959 people which are 3,78% of the total population. At first glance, they should be the main target group which originally refer Turkish titles. Also interest for reading books from Turkish authors shows a large part of the Macedonian population, not only the Turkish minority. This is the best illustrated by the fact that a few years back Orhan Pamuk is one of the ten most popular foreign authors in Macedonia. Besides this, as we say before, the books of three Turkish authors are required reading in primary education in Macedonia.
